

About

Harvard University is a private Ivy League research university in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Established in 1636, Harvard is the United States' oldest institution of higher learning and its history, influence, and wealth have made it one of the world most prestigious universities. Harvard's alumni include eight U.S. presidents, more than thirty foreign heads of state, 62 living billionaires, 359 Rhodes Scholars, and 242 Marshall Scholars. As of October 2018, 158 Nobel laureates, 18 Fields Medalists, and 14 Turing Award winners have been affiliated as students, faculty, or researchers. In addition, Harvard students and alumni have won a lot of Academy Awards, Pulitzer Prizes, and Olympic medals and have founded a large number of companies worldwide such as Microsoft, Facebook, Citigroup, and CVS Health Corporation.

Harvard's extensive library system houses the oldest collection in the U.S. and the largest private collection in the world. Harvard has the largest endowment of any school in the world.
