About

The University of Pennsylvania (UPenn) is a private Ivy League research university located in the University City neighborhood of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It is home to several education innovations. The first school of medicine in North America (Perelman School of Medicine, 1765), the first collegiate business school (Wharton School, 1881) and the first "student union" building and organization (Houston Hall, 1896) were founded at UPenn. As of 2018, distinguished alumni include 14 heads of state, 64 billionaire alumni and two presidents of the United States, including the current president. Other notable alumni include 27 Rhodes Scholars, 15 Marshall Scholarship recipients, 16 Pulitzer Prize winners, and 48 Fulbright Scholars. In addition, some 35 Nobel laureates and many Fortune 500 CEOs have been affiliated with the university. UPenn is ranked 19th in the QS World University Rankings 2019. The Perelman is the third best medical schools in the United States according to US News in 2019. UPenn is the second strategic partner of VinUniversity.
