VIETNAM OVERVIEW

Geography:

Vietnam is a Southeast Asian country that borders China to the north, Laos to the northwest, Cambodia to the southwest, and the South China Sea to the east. The country is known for its stunning natural beauty, rich history, and diverse culture.

Hanoi is the capital city of Vietnam and is located in the northern part of the country. It is one of the oldest capital cities in the world, with a history dating back over a thousand years. The city is known for its vibrant culture, stunning architecture, and delicious cuisine.

Population:

According to the World Bank, Vietnam's population was approximately 98 million people in 2021, making it the 15th most populous country in the world. The population of Hanoi is estimated to be around 8 million people, making it the second-largest city in Vietnam after Ho Chi Minh City.

Climate and Weather:

Vietnam has a tropical monsoon climate, which means that it has two distinct seasons: a wet season and a dry season. The wet season lasts from May to October, with the heaviest rains falling in July and August. The dry season runs from November to April. The average temperature in Vietnam ranges from 22°C to 27°C, with the hottest months being June and July.

GDP:

According to an online article by Nikkei Asia (2022) Vietnam has experienced strong economic growth over the past few decades, with a GDP growth rate of 8.02% in 2022. The country has a rapidly growing manufacturing sector, with a focus on electronics, textiles, and footwear. The service sector is also an important contributor to the country's GDP, particularly in the areas of tourism and finance. In 2020, Vietnam's GDP was approximately $343 billion according to the World Bank..

Cost of Living:

Vietnam has a relatively low cost of living compared to many other countries, particularly in terms of food and accommodation. The cost of living in Hanoi is generally lower than in Ho Chi Minh City, but it can vary depending on the area. Prices for groceries, transportation, and healthcare are also relatively affordable in Vietnam.

WHY VIETNAM

Affordable Cost of Living: Vietnam is one of the most affordable countries in Southeast Asia to live in. Monthly expenses such as rent, food, and transportation are reasonably low, which makes it an attractive destination for students.

High-Quality Education: Vietnam has a well-established education system with a strong focus on academic excellence. The country has several internationally recognized universities and colleges that offer programs in various study fields.

Rich Culture and Diversity: Vietnamese culture is diverse and fascinating, with influences from China, France, and other Southeast Asian countries. Studying in Vietnam is an excellent opportunity to experience this unique culture firsthand.

Career Opportunities: According to the World Bank, Vietnam is currently experiencing significant economic growth, which is creating a demand for skilled workers in various sectors. As a result, international students who study in Vietnam have the opportunity to gain practical experience and job opportunities upon graduation.

Friendly and welcoming people: Vietnamese people are known for their friendliness and welcoming nature towards foreigners. As an international student studying in Vietnam, you will feel like part of the family in no time.

SHARING FROM INBOUND FACULTY & STUDENTS

Prof. Yves Tiberghien

University of British Columbia

Faculty lead for the UBC Go Global research seminar in Vietnam

"The students, faculty, and staff at VinUni were wonderful to work with: filled with enthusiasm for joint research and discussions with our students, they ensured that we had access to amazing sites, people, and experiences. They also met our desires for a meaningful learning and research experience sustained over the ten days."

Mees, Fabian, Daan and Quinten

Nyenrode Business University

VinUni Inbound Exchange Students

"I really like the "Wines of the World" course, where we got to taste various wines in the meeting room on the 9th floor with a panoramic view of the campus. It's truly an unforgettable memory! Vietnam is so beautiful, and the food is really amazing. Don't hesitate to go to Vietnam on an exchange program. Remember to study diligently and gain plenty of experiences while you're here!"

Sasha Lee

University of British Columbia

VinUni Inbound Exchange Student

"The students of VinUniversity showcased commitment and professionalism in their work which both amazed and humbled many of us from UBC. Amid their assignments, studies, and exams, the participants took the time to discuss, research, and present their work with us which compared rising sea levels and coastal resilience in Hanoi and Vancouver."

Trinh Nguyen

University of British Columbia

UBC Academic Program Assistant

"The students worked together in groups, and all the groups produced amazing final presentations with sound research component and sensible solutions for global issues".

Olivia BOEDIJANTO

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

VinUni Inbound Exchange Student

"My understanding was further deepened through lectures by program instructor Dr. Anupama DEVENDRAKUMAR and renowned anthropologist Professor David HARRISON, whose expertise in environmental intelligence among ethnic minority groups left a lasting mark on my quest for real-world environmental intelligence."

Daniel Hartman

University of Pennsylvania

VinUni Internship Student

"I had a great time. I'm definitely going to tell the first-year students next year that this is a great opportunity. I think especially for anyone who's interested in it. Working internationally or doing medical education work, this is such a unique opportunity to work in a brand new medical school, so I'll certainly encourage my classmates to come here if they're interested."

Sara Baaser

Cornell University student

VinUni Inbound Student

"Working with my VACEP team members in Vietnam to learn about adverse childhood experiences was enlightening, as I got the opportunity to learn about research practices in Vietnam and other nations. This experience has inspired me to seek more global and cross-cultural collaborations in research related to public health, medicine, and the social sciences. I hope to use the skills, knowledge, and experiences gained by conducting international research to guide me into becoming a life-long learner and supporter of research in community engagement projects."

Le Nam Thuan An

Cornell University

VinUni Study-Away Student

"Thank you VinUni for such an amazing year in Vietnam, where I got the opportunity to meet new people and learn from them. The faculty and staff here greatly care about their students' well-being."

Trinh Thao Linh

University of Technology Sydney

VinUni Study-Away Student

"It's such a right choice that I have decided to participate in VinUni's Study Away program this semester. The study away program at VinUni facilitated my social interaction, eased my remote-studying challenges, and created valuable experiences for me. Thank VinUni and UTS so much for arranging such a helpful program."

NINH BINH

Overview

Situated near the southern margin of the Red River Delta, the Trang An Landscape Complex is a spectacular landscape of limestone karst peaks permeated with valleys, many of them partly submerged and surrounded by steep, almost vertical cliffs. Exploration of caves at different altitudes has revealed archaeological traces of human activity over a continuous period of more than 30,000 years. They illustrate the occupation of these mountains by seasonal hunter-gatherers and how they adapted to major climatic and environmental changes, especially the repeated inundation of the landscape by the sea after the last ice age. The story of human occupation continues through the Neolithic and Bronze Ages to the historical era. Hoa Lu, the ancient capital of Viet Nam, was strategically established here in the 10th and 11th centuries AD. The property also contains temples, pagodas, paddy-fields and small villages.
